

LITTLE JOURNEYS INTO THE HOMES OF RESORTERS

"Frog Fairy" Delights The Pequot Colony

Staged on Terrace of Formal Garden on Estate of the George M. Landers—Luncheons and Card Parties the Order of the Day.

New London, July 24.—The play given Saturday night on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Landers, was the society event of the week at Pequot. For several seasons Miss Mary Sheffield and Miss Leila Moore have given a play for the benefit of the New London Day Nursery. "The Frog Fairy" is a pretty fairy tale, and enacted as it was by a cast of charming young folks, and staged in the beautiful setting of the Landers estate, it was without question the most artistic production ever seen in New London.

The second terrace of the formal garden was the stage, while the audience was seated at a little distance on the terrace and veranda of the house. "The Frog Fairy" was rehearsed and presented under the direction of Wilson Mianer, the dramatist. Miss Mary Sheffield as "The Frog Fairy" was charming. The roles of executioner, soldier and page fell respectively to Louise Sanford, Leila Moore and Joseph Sheffield, and each played "his" part well.

The lesser social activities of the week at Pequot started on Monday, with the Harmony Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry G. Sanford. On Tuesday there were three different parties. A luncheon was given by the Misses Lynch at their lovely summer home near the lighthouse. Their guests included Mrs. E. S. Harkness, Mrs. E. T. Kirkland, Mrs. Henry Sanford, Mrs. G. B. Pillsbury, Mrs. Harrington, Miss Lynch, Miss Rensen and Miss Ogden. Tuesday evening Mrs. McCoskey Butts and Mrs. Chester W. Bliss gave dinner parties. Mrs. Richard Mansfield's tea at the Casino on Wednesday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, was a very large affair. More than one hundred of Mrs. Mansfield's friends attended. Mrs. W. B. Quintance and Miss Edna L. Tyler presided at the tea table, and Jacob's orchestra played an especially arranged programme of music. A "smaller tea" was given on the same afternoon by Mrs. Woodruff and Mrs. Howell.

During the week there were a number of luncheons. On Thursday Mrs. McCoskey Butts gave a luncheon at Rockaways, her guests being Mrs. E. T. Kirkland, Miss Spurr, Miss Emily Lynch, Miss Rensen and Mrs. Sanford. On the same day the Misses Palmer entertained at luncheon Mrs. Nelson Whitney, Miss Brundage, Miss Ogden, Miss Emily Norrie and Mrs. G. B. Pillsbury. Friday Miss Emily Norrie gave a luncheon to ten of her friends. Miss Norrie's guests were Mrs. C. W. Ogden, Jr., Miss Ogden, Mrs. Brundage, Miss Amelia Stephens, Mrs. G. B. Pillsbury and the Misses Palmer.

The largest card party of the season at Pequot was given by Edmund C. Johnston at the Casino on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Johnston entertained forty-four of his friends at bridge and coon can, and for the tea which followed there were many more guests. Mrs. Butts, Mrs. Spear and Mrs. Tyler entertained at dinner. On Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. George Palmer had a dinner of twelve at their beautiful villa, Westmore. Mrs. Schall had a dinner at Rockbourne, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Chappell had a dinner at the Casino. Captain and Mrs. E. C. Harrington have returned from their honeymoon, and are now visiting Mrs. Reyburn at Oak Lodge. Mrs. G. C. Davidson has returned to the Larches after attending the launching of a British submarine at Quincy, Mass. Mrs. Alex. Lehmann is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. P. Keasby, at Saybrook Farm. Nelson Whitney has arrived from New Orleans and has joined Mrs. Whitney at the Anchorage Inn.

Mrs. Wright, Miss Emily Wright and Edward Wright, Jr., are visiting Mrs. James Rummell at Gochen Farm. Miss Nina Baldwin is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Robert Moore, at the Moorlands. Miss Frances Ogden Jones is visiting her sister, Mrs. Caroline Ogden Jones, at Newport. Saturday night, after the play, Mrs. Landers entertained the friends of her daughter, Miss Mary Sheffield, on board their yacht, the Elena.

H. D. Saxton's annual party for the Graceland and Eastern Point cottages children was held on Tuesday. Mr. Saxton's guests, numbering forty-five children within the age of eight years, were seated on both sides of the T-shaped table, upon which were piled toys and souvenirs. A Charlie Chaplin hat covered each small masculine guest plate, and the little men were not slow in donning them at every rakish angle ever discovered by Charlie Chaplin, and perhaps a few original ones.

As Mr. Saxton took his place at the head of the table, between his daughter, Miss Thirza Jane Saxton, and William Nugent, of St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Morton F. Plant arrived to witness the merry scene. Mr. Saxton's guests were the Misses Edwina Nugent, Constance Gahm, Marjorie W. Lawbaugh, Betty Fuller, Jean Ferguson, Margaret Louise Ahron, Margaret Tyler, Ruth Brewer, Dorothy Phelps, Mildred Phelps, Natalie Burnham, Mary Rowena Nash and Katharine Nash. The young men of the party were the messrs. Elliott Burnham, Norman Spadone, William Nugent, Teddie Tyler, Clinton James Ahron, Clifford Gahm, Gilbert Heublein, Ernest Hillman, Jr., Jim and Joe Qualey, Charles Kenyon, Jr., Frederick Geiger, E. H. Morris, Henry Cushman, David A. Layne, Mr. Poor, Arnold Hoffman, Corbin Kohn, Alan Landau, Richard and Stephen Knight, Charles G. Miller, Jr., Blackstone Perkins, Gordon K. Tyler and Fred Singly.

The past week has been a gay one at the Oswegatchie House and Casino. Everything brings its complement of dancers and diners, and in the afternoon there are dances for children. On Monday evening the patrons were entertained by an exhibition of dances of past years, including the changing through which dancing has passed since 1862. The children came in for their share of fun on Thursday afternoon when an entertainment of dancing games was arranged for their amusement.

A feature of the Saturday night dance, which was perhaps the most successful of all previous Saturday evening dances, was a contest of the Oswegatchie cupid contest, in which prizes were won by Mrs. S. B. Smith and Frank Allyn. Among those who entertained at dinner were Mrs. Raymond Keeney, Mr. and Mrs. P. Valentine Chappell, Miss Jane Terry and Captain and Mrs. Francis C. Harrington.

Record Racing Meet Saratoga's Outlook

Four Tiers of Clubhouse Boxes Taken for First Time in Ten Years—Belmonts Occupy Cottages—Benefits for Charity.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 24.—That this resort is to have the greatest racing season in more than a quarter of a century is the prediction of men interested in promoting the "sport of kings." The fact that this is the first time in ten years that the first four tiers of clubhouse boxes have been rented in advance of the opening day, August 2, signifies the great interest taken in this sport this summer. Following is a partial list of boxholders. Several of them have not figured at the races for many years.

Box 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

Atlantic City Maids as Sand Sculptors

Modelling in the Grit the Week's Fad—Suffragists Make Strenuous Campaign Along Boardwalk—Yachtsmen Arrive as Fortune Tellers Go.

Atlantic City, July 24.—Pretty girls modelling statues in wet sand have attracted attention along the beach this week. The girls who have taken up the fad invite their friends to what they call "modelling parties," but the men have dubbed the gatherings "sand-soirees," and gather to watch the maids in bathing suits work out their ideas in the plastic sand. Hostesses who give the parties on the beach award prizes for the best conceptions and the best execution of the ideas.

Suffragists have started a campaign by making strenuous speeches along the boardwalk. The city officials have refused to place any ban on the number or efforts of the speakers, who have been enlisted from a score of states, and male promenaders gather in crowds to hear the arguments. The leaders of the cause have discovered that attractive girls modelling statues in wet sand have attracted attention along the beach this week.

Among the New York visitors present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Roberts, Miss Lillian Callahan, Mrs. M. M. Lyons, Mrs. A. M. Healy, Mr. and Mrs. C. Salmon, Miss Carroll and Mrs. William C. Reed.

General D. C. Gordon, a retired army officer, is at the Marlborough-Blenheim this week with Mrs. Gordon. Mrs. H. L. Rodman, of New York, is here to visit Mrs. Frederick H. Hadden. Mrs. Charles H. Loring, of New York, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Albert G. Philman, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Simpson, of New York, will remain at the same hotel through the summer.

Mrs. D. H. O'Connor, who is at the Frontenac, is entertaining Miss J. G. Sadler, of New York. Mrs. James Ellison, of New York, is also here. Mrs. McCottry and Mrs. M. D. Taylor, of New York, are here. Mrs. M. A. Price, of New York, is visiting friends at the New Clarion. Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Rodman, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Underhill, of Glen Cove, are at the Strand for the remainder of July. Mrs. Henry Mitchell and Master Jay Foss Mitchell have joined the New York colony here.

Dr. Bernard Gordon has brought his family from New York by motor for a stay at the Netherlands. Mr. and Mrs. Frederic D. Armstrong and Frederic D. Armstrong, Jr., make up a family party of New York folk at the same hotel. Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Gray, of New York, are at the Wilshire, where Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Watson, of Brooklyn, are booked for a summer stay. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Van Buren are also there. Miss A. Louise Wilson and Miss Edith W. Strong, of Newburgh, are at the Seaside with Mrs. Louise G. Hoffman, of Brooklyn. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bratton and Miss Bratton, of New York, are also there.

Since Americans cannot go abroad this summer, bits of European night life are being reproduced at Atlantic City. Last week the Traymore gave a representation of a cafe of the Parisian underworld, preserving the details of local color even to the sandpit on the floor and illumination by candles stuck in wine bottles. This week the scene was laid in Seville, being the "fiesta" before the inn, as in the second act of "Carmen." On the lawn sat the guests for the evening and Spanish youths and maidens. Red and yellow, the Spanish colors, predominated in the decoration, from the colored streamers to the lanterns glowing in the branches of the trees.

During the evening these present witnessed a masquerade representation of a bullfight, a duel between jealous lovers and several interpretations of Spanish dances by Peria and Paul Cardy, of the Folies Bergere. Spanish officers in uniform were stationed here and there, and the waiters were dressed as picadors, toreros and matadors. Justice Dugro, of the New York Superior Court, and Mrs. Dugro were recent visitors at the Hotel Traymore. Some arrivals at the Traymore from New York City are H. A. Richards, Jr., James Westervelt, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Tovey, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew E. Hanna and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pettie.

White Mountains Echo To Tramp of Tourists

Throb of Motor, Patter of One-Step, Swish of Raquet and Click of Clean Drive Tell of Summer Solace.

Bretton Woods, July 24. Golf and tennis events were scheduled for last week and the first open tennis tournament of the season, which was to have been played at Stuyvesant, was promised to be interesting, until the sheets of falling rain during four entire days made it imperative to postpone it until this week. Several entries from Twin Mountain, Bethlehem and other resorts had been received. The Kicker's Handicap, at the Bethlehem Country Club, was easily won by S. H. Hennessey, of the Pinehurst Golf Club. Another handicap event at the Bethlehem Country Club is scheduled for to-day. Among prominent golfers playing at Bethlehem this week have been Tom McNamara and John McDermott, of Philadelphia, who is the guest of Stuyvesant, Le Roy at Bethlehem; Archie McVain, of New York, who is spending the summer at Bretton Woods, and the professional, E. C. Connerly, who has made a new record for the Bethlehem links, having played some four courses of the Mount Pleasant into the first hole following.

The principal golf event of the week in the White Mountains, however, was the lowering of the amateur record of the Bretton Woods course from 29 to 28 by Archie McVain. A four-some between L. A. Hamilton, of Wyckoff, and James MacKrell, of Bretton Woods, playing against A. McVain and C. B. MacKrell, was productive of some low scores and a wonderful shot by MacKrell, who drove from a tall grass hazard directly into the hole in what is considered the most phenomenal shot since Archie MacKrell drove from the first tee at the Mount Pleasant into the first hole across the river several years ago.

MacNamara, who has been making a round of the White Mountain courses, also played at Waumbec, where the course is in wonderful shape, and at the Maplewood Country Club. The opening of the Forest de Danse at the Mount Washington Hotel on Saturday night was the most interesting event of the week to the young people, who were delighted with the colored orchestra and their inimitable Broadway dance music, with drums and traps. The thes dancers in the Forest began on Monday afternoon, when several parties motoring over from other resorts.

Block Island

Block Island, R. I., July 24.—The mid-July season at Block Island is at its gayest. At the hotels there is something done every minute of the day and evening. Never was the beach so popular nor the crowds so large.

Among the yachts here during the week was one owned by Miss Billie Burke. Nine members of the Atlantic Tuna Club were registered at the Ocean View for a four days' fishing trip last week. In the party were Clinton Gilbert, of New York City; L. Dana Chapman, Stewart Woodworth and Walter Edward, of Boston; E. Merrick Dodd, of Brookline, Mass.; Warren White and A. A. Williams, of Holliston, Mass.; and P. P. Kieley, of Providence. Mr. Gilbert caught a fifty-pounder.

At the Manisses Hotel, in addition to the regular hops each evening, the patrons had a baby dance on Wednesday evening. All who danced wore juvenile costumes and prizes were won by Miss Evelyn Dillon, of New York City, who was dressed as a child of ten, and by Paul Larkin, of Worcester, Mass., who was dressed as a girl in sailor costume. On Saturday evening a barn dance was given and the prizes were won by Mrs. E. Rosenthal and Mrs. J. Kaufman, of New York City.

Many are registered at the Surf Hotel from New York City, among them being Miss Josephine Carr, M. C. Varnum, Frederick Boyce, Josephine Cromer, Kitty Grey, G. R. and P. M. Stone and A. Armour.

Tennis and croquet have been most interesting to patrons at the Hygeia Hotel this week. Among those holding scores in the croquet tournament are John Hurd, of Dover, N. J.; Dr. J. P. Talmadge, of Brooklyn; Miss Hope Massie, of Middletown, Conn.; Miss Alice Ward, of Springfield, Mass.; and Mrs. Sigmund Rosenberg, of New York City. Rehearsals have begun for a vaudeville show on Saturday to be followed by a dance and refreshments in the grill room. Among those who have arrived for the season are Mr. and Mrs. Baruch, the Misses Sophie and Nannie Hanau, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stern, of New York City; Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Talmadge, of Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Phillips, of Morrisstown, N. J.; The Rev. L. E. Wheeler, of New Berlin, N. Y.; is also registered at the Hygeia.

Tourists and Vacation Seekers in Catskills

Catskill, N. Y., July 24.—Catskill is busier to-night than any of the resorts in the Catskills, with crowds in the streets, yachts moored in the creek and automobiles parked in front of the hotels or in garages.

Interest here is centering now in the carnival which is being arranged for the week of August 24.

Much of the interest in social affairs at Catskill has to do with the Grant House evening dances, Saturday evening masquerades, concerts and tennis and golf tournaments. Among late arrivals there are Mrs. Frank Seer and Arthur Flatto, Mr. and Mrs. C. Sternhardt, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Schramm, Mr. and Mrs. David L. Lustig, Laurence Lustig, Harold Lustig, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Grosholz, Miss Beatrice Loewus, George Goldson, Miss Jeannette Goldson and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Sternfeld, of New York.

At the Pine Grove House, at Leeds, are Miss Elsie Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Is, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Hara, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ludd, Mrs. William McGowan and family and Miss Mae Rice.

Stamford

Stamford July 24.—Summer visitors here are a busy lot, finding in golf and tennis, boating and bathing an outlet for surplus energy. Dances, recitals and musicals at the Roxmere, dances at the New Grant House and at Grey Court Inn and dances and concerts at Churchill Hall have met with flattering reception.

Arrivals at Churchill Hall are Mr. and Mrs. William Moseley, J. B. Baker, Mrs. A. K. Muller, Miss E. Carroll, Miss O. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh F. Donnelly, Miss Alice Donnelly, Joseph Kivalan and Miss Bessie Kivalan.

Twilight Inn is entertaining Mrs. Louis E. Lefferts, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Severance, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. K. White, Mrs. W. T. Cornell, Miss Dorothy Kent, Mrs. A. Fechtler, Mrs. M. C. Dage, Mrs. W. H. Carpenter, Miss Jesse Pickard, Miss E. J. Schwenker, Miss Ethel J. Croker, Dr. and Mrs. H. Griswold, W. S. Morton, L. A. Sneekner, W. R. Gordon, Peter Henderson, New York; Alex. C. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Snyder and Miss G. G. Toher, of Brooklyn.

Among those at the Roxmere are Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Maclean, Dr. A. Kalish, Miss Kalish, F. E. Baldwin, Mrs. H. E. Huber, Mrs. G. B. Baffetta, Miss Leonard A. Wales, G. I. Batheiden, New York, and Mrs. Alfred T. Osmond, New York.

Kaaterskill

Kaaterskill, N. Y., July 24.—The chief social function here so far this season took place last Saturday on the arrival at the Hotel Kaaterskill of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Straus with a party of friends. The young people turned the Straus suite of rooms into a bower of the mountain flowers which they presented to Mr. and Mrs. Straus with the welcome of "To dear Mr. and Mrs. Straus, greetings from your little friends, the children of the Kaaterskill Hotel." We have gathered nature's most beautiful tokens, the mountain flowers, to express for us to you our appreciation of the great and lovely kindness of a life of devotion to the wellbeing of the thousands of helpless babes and poor little tots who have to live in the hot, crowded tenements of the great city, far from the blue skies and beautiful green of the woods and fields. He, who sees all, may He ever bless you with health and happiness is our sincere and heartfelt wish."

Roxbury

Roxbury, N. Y., July 24.—On the invitation of Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, who is occupying Kirkside, her summer home here, the ministers of eastern Delaware County have been holding a conference for Bible study here. Mrs. H. S. Hayward, Harold Hayward and Miss Valida Hayward, of Chicago, are at the Pleasant View Farm. Mrs. W. S. Newkirk and Mrs. Newkirk, of Hawthorn, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Taylor, of New York, are at the Taylor cottage. Mrs. J. H. Dudley, Miss Alice Dudley and W. H. Taylor, of Ithaca, have been spending a short vacation here. B. G. Cave, M. C. P., and Percy Cave, of Barbados, British West Indies, are at the Maple Grove Cottage for the summer.

Haines Falls

Haines Falls, N. Y., July 24.—The season at Haines Falls reached its zenith this week, with hotels and boarding houses filled to overflowing. Mrs. H. C. Strakamp and Miss Therese Strakamp, of Brooklyn, are occupying their summer cottage in Sunset Park. Aaron J. Levy and his family, of New York, are at their summer cottage in Haines Falls.

Twilight Inn is entertaining Mrs. Louis E. Lefferts, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Severance, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. K. White, Mrs. W. T. Cornell, Miss Dorothy Kent, Mrs. A. Fechtler, Mrs. M. C. Dage, Mrs. W. H. Carpenter, Miss Jesse Pickard, Miss E. J. Schwenker, Miss Ethel J. Croker, Dr. and Mrs. H. Griswold, W. S. Morton, L. A. Sneekner, W. R. Gordon, Peter Henderson, New York; Alex. C. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Snyder and Miss G. G. Toher, of Brooklyn.
